What aspects of the course did you like best? What did you like least?
Direct Quotes from Students	Our teacher was excellent. Every day we linked what we had learned the day before to what we were learning that day. My least favorite part was that the room we were using was very cold to the point where it was at times distracting.
	that you had to manage your own time
	I like the engaging atmosphere best.
	most interesting theories that many authors proposed that I never have though about like oil hinder democracy. I think there is too much reading for every class, I hope the amount could be reduced however still remain diverse and cover wide range of theories.
	I really enjoyed learning about mechanisms behind certain social and political issues. I found some readings to be lengthy and difficult to read.
	I enjoyed discussing with my classmates about the new theories and causal relationships we read about, and exploring the differences and pitfalls. I disliked the GIS requirements off the course, because it was challenging to understand and felt partially unnecessary to the learning and understanding of the theories.

How did this program impact you?
Direct Quotes from Students	I've learnt so much about diversity and about the value of education from my peers and my teachers.
	I now have a much better idea of what college life will be like.

Additional Comments from Students
Direct Quotes from Students	What would you like to tell future students about this program?
	it is hard work but you will have fun
	Be prepared for hours of homework and try to bond with people right away.
	manage your time well and explore all that Harvard has to offer. Go to the passport events and explore the resturants as well!
